Program offers book recommendations while supporting local business

Greenwood Public Library to host event at Sassafras Tea Room

Greenwood residents looking for new book recommendations have a great opportunity to learn about new titles while supporting a local business. Greenwood Public Library (GPL) will be hosting Books & Teas, a Book Chat at Sassafras Tea Room on Thursday, July 12th at 6pm. This is the fourth in a series of Book Chats following ones at Brickhouse Coffee, Vino Villa, and Oaken Barrel Brewing Company. Each event gives participants the opportunity to try some tasty treats while learning about upcoming new releases from GPL librarians.

“It’s always a treat to comb through upcoming titles for a Book Chat event and pick out my favorite books to promote to local readers,” stated Reference Librarian Susan Jerger. “Being at the Sassafras Tea Room and sipping delicious tea is an added bonus!” Jerger will be joined by Assistant Director Emily Ellis who will be bringing her list of favorite upcoming titles to share as well.

Tea purchases will be covered by the library. Food may be purchased at the attendee’s own discretion. Anyone interested in attending this free event is encouraged to register at GPL’s website.
