Christian fiction has at its core biblically-based attitudes, values and actions. It is sometimes called inspirational fiction or gentle reads, but these terms can be misleading. Christian fiction is characterized by explicit or implicit Christianity and little or no sex, violence or profanity. Often written in a series to show the growth of faith over time, these books pose religious questions and answers, show conflict over faith and morality, often emphasize a conversion or crisis of faith and exemplify Christian faith in real life.

This list is just a small list of what is available at GPL. Christian fiction also has several sub-genres including:

Apocalyptic, contemporary, historical, romance, western, sci-fi, fantasy, suspense, and biblical themes.
