Fairytales, Folklore, & Fables

Greenwood Public Library

This pathfinder is designed to help you locate all kinds of information on Fairytales, Folklore, and Fables. It focuses on materials relevant for students grades K-12; these materials include online searches, print materials, multimedia items, websites, and teacher resources/activities.

Once upon a time...fairytales, folklore, and fables have been passed down from generation to generation. Storytellers, at their best, engage the audience, teach lessons, and transport the listener to different worlds with just a few words.

The print materials and multimedia materials were located using the Greenwood Public Library Evergreen search website, and they may all be located at Greenwood Public Library. The electronic materials were located through Google searches and other online databases.

Keywords & Searching Tips

When searching for information through an electronic database or Internet search engine, you may find more or stronger resources by using the following tips:

When looking for a particular phrase, such as Brothers Grimm, surround the phrase with quotation marks ("Brothers Grimm"). This ensures that your results will include this entire phrase, rather than just "Brothers" or "Grimm."

If you do not want something in your results, put a minus sign (-) in front of it. For example, if I do not want information regarding Cinderella in my Fairy Tale search, I could type: "Fairy Tales"-Cinderella.

If you want to search for more than one phrase at the same time, use the word "OR" between the phrases. For example, if I searched "Fairy Tales" OR "Rapunzel," I can locate materials that use either of these phrases.

You can narrow down your search even further by using the word "AND." If I want to research Aesop's Fables, I can search "Aesop" AND "Fables" to get more appropriate results.

Try using the following search terms to locate various materials regarding Fairytales, Folklore, & Fables.

- Fairy Tales
- Classic Fairy Tales
- Folklore
- American Folklore
- World Folklore
- Native American Folklore

- Fables
- Fables, American
- Fables, Greek
- Brothers Grimm
- Grimm, Jacob
- Grimm, Wilhelm
- Mother Goose
- Hans Christian Anderson
- Aesop
- Russian Fairy Tales
- German Fairy Tales
- Chinese Fairy Tales (etc. substitute the region you are looking for + “Fairy Tales)

If looking for information on a particular person important to the study of Astronomy and space science, type their last name, first name. For example, “Anderson, Hans Christian.”

If looking for a particular Fairy Tale or story, type the name of the main character such as “Robin Hood”, “King Arthur”, or “Cinderella”.
