Library offering free community literacy workshop
Decoding Dyslexia and GPL offer strategies for families struggling with dyslexia

Decoding Dyslexia Indiana and the Greenwood Public Library are teaming up to offer a Literacy Workshop at Greenwood Public Library on Saturday, November 11 from 1-5pm. This will be the 4th year for the workshop which is designed to share current information about dyslexia, dyscalculia, and strategies to use at home and school, including information on assisted technology.

“Our children’s department is committed to early literacy, and we are so excited to be a part of this educational community workshop,” states Director Cheryl Dobbs. “We’ve heard so many stories of kids struggling to read, who are then identified as dyslexic. Our librarians jump in with strategies to help that child develop their literacy skills and to foster a love of reading. Working with Decoding Dyslexia is a natural partnership.”

Parents, teachers, teens, and school administrators are invited to attend this free event. Continuing education credits will be offered.
